SATURDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1870.

UNION REFORM NOMINATIONS.

For Governor,

HON. R. B. CARPENTER, OF CHARLESTON.

For Lieutenant-Governor,

GENERAL M. C. BUTLER, OF EDGEFIELD.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

—Gold closed in New York, yesterday, at 131 1/4.

—Cotton was easier; uplands 16 1/2 cents; sales 800 bales.

—In Liverpool cotton closed flat; uplands 8 1/2, Orleans 8 1/2; sales 10,000 bales.

—It has been decided that a widow may continue the business of her husband without taking out a new license, provided she has the bonds changed to her own name.

—A new interest has been given to raffle planting in Louisiana. The fibre of the raffle plant is prepared exclusively for the European market.

—On a ranch, on the Carson River, in Nevada, is to be seen a herd of twenty-six camels, all but two raised in that State. But two of the old herd of nine or ten brought here some years ago are now living.

—The New York Board of Education proposes to buy the plates of Audubon's great ornithological work, which will make it at once a real educator of the masses in a splendid way and a munificent patron of art.

—The Emperor of Brazil proposes, early next year, to leave the Princess Imperial as Regent, and to travel for two years in Europe and the United States, to observe their institutions, with a view to improving the state of affairs in his own country. It is thought he will first visit the United States, and make a careful study of our educational systems, for the purpose of adopting them in Brazil.

—In driving from Saarbrücken to Metz, says an English correspondent, on the 14th of September, we were much astonished to observe all the deserted villages as you near Metz. Where do the people have flown to? God only knows. There is scarcely a vestige of a peasant to be seen anywhere. The villages for the most part are occupied by the landwehr, who are only now coming to the front. We passed innumerable wagons of provisions and cattle, driven along the road to the great Prussian army, now well into the heart of France.

—The public generally do not comprehend the immensity of the effort made by Germany in the present war, or the extent to which she is staking her future prosperity. She has placed under arms, it is estimated (in actual regiments marching or ready to march), her entire youth, all persons between twenty-one and twenty-six, physically competent to bear arms. Indeed, it is probably not untrue that Germany has 1,200,000 young men of every class engaged in the war, in front or in reserve, while quite as many as 200,000 additional persons must be engaged in manufacturing, collecting, or forwarding supplies. These figures show that peace is just as much for the interest of Germany as for that of France.

—Frere Hyacinthe has recently addressed Minister Washburne, returning thanks for sympathy expressed by him for the French Republic. Frere Hyacinthe further says that Europe, upon which the blood of the heroic deeds of the French have been poured out, still preserves silence, while America in spite of the separating ocean, has made her voice heard. America, he says, affirms that neither distance nor diversity of race shall render foreign to one another nations which have but one soul, and claims for the French Republic the inalienable right to live in laboring for the benefit of all. Frere Hyacinthe has also written a letter expressing his gratification with the "noble circular of Jules Favre, at once so moderate and so firm, so pacific and so high-spirited." He also claims upon all the children of France to rally around the banner of Favre. The above letters are published in full in the Paris Temps of September 14.

—A new Opera Bouffe, entitled "Petit Faust," has just been introduced by the notorious James Fisk, Jr., at the Erie Opera house, in New York. It is a burlesque of Gounod's great Faust, and of it and the prima donna the Tribune says: "We have used some pretty plain language in times past with reference to certain performances at the French Theatre, but we have no heart to speak of the 'Petit Faust' in the terms which we think it deserves. We may say, however, that the credit belongs to Mr. Fisk of introducing a play more indecent and a prima donna more revolting than any previously offered to the public of New York, and when we add that the nastiness is not relieved by anything pretty, or amusing, or witty, that it is not accompanied by even tolerably good music, that it stands out in fact in all its stark deformity, we have perhaps said all that the class of people who read our paper will care to hear."

—In her extremity, France turns to American ingenuity instead of its boasted chaperon for relief. The Army and Navy Journal says that the steamer Lafayette took out, on Tuesday last, fifteen thousand Remington breech-loaders of the so-called Egyptian pattern, calibre 43-100, or eleven millimeters, for the French Government; the Percussive having taken five thousand two weeks ago, is able, one year later, to return an income of $15,000 or $16,000; when Speaker Moses, a ruined man when he was elected, is able to buy land and pay debts amounting to $150,000—the people have the right to ask and to inquire whether these fortunes were honestly made, or are, in reality, the corrupt gains of a pack of perverting thieves. It is not pleasant to play the part of an amateur detective, and the King would like to be let alone; but while the whole Scott Ring are charged with session of the United States Government, carried its brand. This ammunition was sent by Messrs. Schuyler, Hartley & Graham, who purchased it from the government. Metallic cartridges and American breech-loaders were chosen to take the place of Marshal LeBeau's needle, paper cartridge and rubber stopper.

—Wall street, in the absence of the excitement of breaking fortunes, has varied its business by a general demolition of white hats. The arbiters of fashion in the Board Room, it seems, decided that the season for articles of that color terminated on Monday, and served their wearers with printed circulars to the effect that on that date they would be considered contraband, and treated accordingly. When Trinity clock struck 3, the confascation began. The Long Room was filled with flying white hats. The bulls tossed them, and the bears grappled them. Each wearer of an orthodox color took a "flier" and made a great success in the venture "after call." Gold never went up in more lively style than did those hats, and never came down with such destruction, even on "black Friday." When no hat of the prohibited color was to be found in the Long Room, the army of brokers invaded the Gold Room, stormed the defences and enforced the rule individually and collectively. This was the scene of which the report came that "business at the Stock Exchange was quiet." For a quiet, unobtrusive manner of business, the smashing of white hats can hardly be recommended, although it may be considered as a relief to the more serious and presumably more lively business which gave way to it for the time.

That Printing.

The Thieves' Own charges that THE CHARLESTON NEWS applied to the Republican party for the public printing, pledging support therefor to the Republican party. This statement is an unmitigated lie. The Thieves' Own must prove its charge, or be once more convicted of deliberate mendacity.

Qualifications for Office.

We assume that the Union Reform Convention for Charleston County, which meets on Monday next, is determined to nominate staunch and trustworthy men who can take their seats when elected. No candidate, however intelligent, influential or experienced, is of any value to the people if he is not eligible under the State Constitution, and cannot take the oath of office.

Under the State Constitution no person can hold office who is disqualified therefor by the Constitution of the United States, and members of the General Assembly, and all officers, before entering upon the duties of their respective offices, must take the following oath:

"I do solemnly swear (or affirm, as the case may be), that I am duly qualified, according to the Constitution of the United States, and of this State, to exercise the duties of the office to which I have been elected, (or appointed,) and that I will faithfully discharge, to the best of my abilities, the duties thereof; that I recognize the supremacy of the Constitution and laws of the United States over the constitution and laws of any State; and that I will support, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States, and the Constitution of South Carolina, as ratified by the people on the 16th day of April, 1868. So help me God."

This oath, it will be seen, only requires the official to swear that he is duly qualified according to the Constitution of the United States and of this State. That is to say, he must be entitled to vote in this State, and must not be disqualified from holding office by the Constitution of the United States. Every male citizen, of full age, who has resided in the State one year, and in the county in which he offers to vote sixty days next preceding the election, is entitled to vote. And the only persons disqualified from holding office by the Constitution of the United States are those affected by the third section of the XIV Constitutional amendment, which is as follows:

"Sec. 3. No person shall be a senator or representative in Congress, or elector of president or vice-president, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States, or under any State, who, having previously taken an oath as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof; but Congress may, by a vote of two-thirds of each House, remove such disability."

The only qualifications then of an officer-holding in this State are these:

1. That he is a citizen of the United States, of full age, who has resided in this State one year and in the county for sixty days, and is not an atheist, nor a pauper, nor confined in a public prison.
2. That he did not, prior to the beginning of the Confederate war, hold any State or Federal office, and, afterwards, took part, on the Confederate side, in the Great Rebellion.

No iron-clad oath is required to be taken; nor any other oath than the one printed above.

The "Argumentum ad Hominem."

The Scott Radicals, in their Campaign Address, declare that the Union Reformers seek, "by the most vulgar personal abuse, and das-tardly slanders," to bully their way to power.

It is not to the taste of any Reform journalist to pry into the private affairs of a political opponent, whether he holds as many offices as Corbin, or coins as many falsehoods as the arithmetic man of the Ring. But the State officials, high and low, are the servants of the people, and when any of them accumulate fortunes with marvellous rapidity upon a small salary, the people have a right to inquire where the money came from. When Governor Scott, beginning with nothing, becomes a millionaire; when Secretary Cardozo, who, at the time of his election, was utterly impecunious, acquires houses and railroad shares; when Attorney-General Chamberlain, starting from the same point, daffily follows suit; when Controller-General Neagle, whose pocket was empty two years ago, is able, one year later, to return an income of $15,000 or $16,000; when Speaker Moses, a ruined man when he was elected, is able to buy land and pay debts amounting to $150,000—the people have the right to ask and to inquire whether these fortunes were honestly made, or are, in reality, the corrupt gains of a pack of perverting thieves. It is not pleasant to play the part of an amateur detective, and the King would like to be let alone; but while the whole Scott Ring are charged with crimes which fit them for a matriculation at the State Penitentiary, the press of South Carolina do not intend to test the honesty and capacity of the present government by the provisions of a bill to provide for the roasting of peanuts, or of a joint resolution to authorize the application of a coat of lime-wash to the mangy hides of the Ring.

Very much against our own placid inclinations we are forced to call a spade a spade, and not a ferruginous agricultural implement. Kleptomaniacs are a softer word than thief, but they convey the exact idea. And we should like to know how to avoid what is called a "personal attack" when the whole record of the Ring government is that of personal misconduct and personal trick and deception. Take half a dozen examples. Governor Scott, who "can't make a speech" in South Carolina, makes a speech in Washington, and declares that this State is a nest of assassins, and that "Winchester Rifle" is the only law fit for us. Joe Crews, a member of the Legislature, tells the colored people that they should help themselves to the lands of the whites, and burn down their houses if they feel aggrieved. Comptroller-General Neagle declares that the new standard of Republicanism is "the Winchester Rifle and Bayonet." Tim Hurley buys and sells votes for two years; declares that the "leaders of the Radical party in South Carolina" are thieves, and are proud of it, and becomes a candidate for the Legislature. Nearly every State official is accused of cheating the State through the Land Ring, and the members of the General Assembly are known to have been bought and sold like sheep in the market. These are personal charges. They are, also, offences against the people. Is the press of this State to be silent because the facts show that Scott is a vile incendiary; that Hurley is wholly unfit to represent any set of people outside of the Penitentiary; that Joe Crews is a ruffian, whom a long cord and short shirt would suit better than a seat in the legislative chamber; that Neagle is either a kleptomaniac or the wearer of the cap of Fortunatus; that the whole Ring government is rotten in stem, root and branch?

We know that these are personal charges, but they relate to the public conduct of public men. It matters not to us whether Governor Scott does or does not employ Major Rollins—so long as the State does not pay for it. We care not a jot whether the State officials drink small beer or champagne—so long as the State does not foot the bill. It is not our affair if every Ring-man became a Cressus—so long as he has not fished his wealth from the coffers of the State. What we look to is the interest of the people of South Carolina, and when the people are robbed, cheated and abused, we intend to call the robbers, the cheats and the bullies by their right names, whether it is agreeable or not to the culprits themselves or to the dainty tea-servers, who chew rose leaves and sip ambrosia, while the State is going to the everlasting dogs.

Come Down to It.

The Thieves' Own hushes up the old story that Judge Carpenter bribed certain members of the Legislature, in order to secure the passage of a bill in which he was interested. Judge Carpenter has, to our knowledge, denied on the stump the truth of this statement, and has solemnly declared that he never offered to a member of the General Assembly a bribe of any kind upon any occasion. Until, therefore, members of the Legislature can be produced who will prove that they were bribed by Judge Carpenter, or attempted to be bribed, the public will continue to treat the allegations against the Reform candidate as utterly false and unworthy of belief.

Educational.

The State Constitution requires the solicitor of each circuit to reside within his circuit. Mr. Attorney-General Chamberlain is the solicitor for this circuit and resides in Columbia, in this particular violating the constitution which he has sworn to defend and support. Mr. Chamberlain discharges none of the duties of the office of solicitor, and for all that we know, draws pay for work which is done by a deputy. The only reparation that Mr. Chamberlain can now make is to acknowledge that, for two years, he has lived in daily violation of his official oath. When he has done this—he may be permitted to resign.

"FEELS HIS OATS"—that is to say, Prussia feels Napoleon's, as will appear from the following, communicated from the spot to the Neue Freie Presse: Such rich booty has not been made in any war, since the beginning of railways. To say nothing of McMahon's exchequer, or his crinolines, there was found at Forbach a supply of oats, sufficient to cover seven years of famine, like Joseph's lean Egyptian Septuagener. Most of the sacks were marked "Berlin," showing that Napoleon had purchased his supply of oats for this war in Prussia. But when could he have done this? This, also, has been ascertained to the very day, by the Berlin Produce Exchange. It was one morning in February last, when oats suddenly took a rise from 25 to 40. The reason then assigned, on 'Change, for this unaccountable upward leap was, that large orders had arrived from England and Sweden, and the "Bulls" and "Bears" of Berlin were wondering what England and Sweden wanted with so much oats. Now, it is all clear as day. Behind England and Sweden stood Napoleon, who knew, in February last, that there would be a cassus belli in July between himself and Germany.

The Campaign.

—The Ring Radicals tried to keep Jones Byrd from speaking at Greenville Courthouse Monday. They didn't do it.

For three weeks the Ring Radicals had advertised a mammoth mass meeting on the 27th, at Edgefield Courthouse. The day came, and only two hundred persons were present. The Advertiser says "a more emphatic failure has not taken place in South Carolina."

—The Barnwell Sentinel says: "There will be no failure if every man does his duty. Those who can work only must work. Those who can work and give money, must do both. The planner who knows so well how to handle his means to a purpose, must look here for an incentive for himself and his heirs. If the spirit and the will 'say come,' and we obey, the fight is won."

Well Done!

The Edgefield Advertiser says that Governor Scott has accepted a white militia company formed in Edgefield. His Excellency the Governor is coming to his senses at last. Hip, hip, hurrah!

A special election will be held in the First Congressional District, on the 10th instant, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Congressman Whittemore. The election is for the unexpired term, ending in March next.
